6. Reports
 - 6.1. Continuous School Improvement Teams
Two Continuous School Improvement teams presented information to the Board. The Educators Health Alliance (EHA) School Wellness Team explained the multiple activities provided to school staff throughout the year to promote health and wellness. Cardinal Kids Club director, Emily Schick, provided enrollment information from this school year and detailed the plan and enrollment for summer camps.
 - 6.2. Boone Central Recognitions

Shout out to Rachel Majerus. As our school nurse, she deserves a ton of credit for helping our district get through these past 2 years. There are days as a school nurse that it's difficult to keep up with the number of students that need assistance. Rachel has managed this perfectly for our district. Not only does she take care of our students when they don't feel well or get injured during the school day, but she also covers the office at times during the day. Rachel has also trained many of our staff members in First Aid/CPR these past 2 years and completed health checks for all students at Boone Central. Rachel will be greatly missed this next year. We appreciate everything she has done for Boone Central these past years.

Dan Zoucha is an outstanding teacher that has taught for Boone Central/Albion for 26 years. I am always impressed with how he engages students, especially in his Government and Civics classes with real life, current issues. The discussions the students have are at a high level and kids are very passionate about the content in the class. Dan also teaches World Studies to 9th grade and does a wonderful job of incorporating geography and world history concepts. Several former students note how they love Social Studies and many of them go on to have jobs in fields related to these topics.

Besides being a wonderful teacher, Mr. Zoucha is the Senior class sponsor. Throughout the year Dan keeps in touch with the Seniors about plans for their senior year and gets them ready for graduation. This includes taking the class for a group senior picture and ordering cap and gowns. At the end of the year, Mr. Zoucha helps me plan the graduation ceremony and organizes graduation rehearsal. Because of Dan, graduation is always a very organized and smoothly run event.

Thanks to Mr. Zoucha for all he does for Boone Central Schools!

Mr. Perone and Ms. Pestel. Throughout the past year we have hosted many district level events. Our vision as a board 6 1/2 years ago when we began looking at facility utilization and improvement was to make the Boone Central school district a location that our communities could enjoy as well as a hub for surrounding school districts to look at for hosting district competitions. Our district has been able to do just that. Having nice facilities is wonderful but without the hard work that goes into organizing and facilitating events, the buildings and venues would remain empty. This past year Boone Central has hosted our own Class C Cross Country District meet, Class C Basketball games, Class C Wrestling tournament, and will be Hosting the Class B District 4 Track Meet this Thursday. These meets provided our student-athletes an opportunity to compete at familiar venues and, to a degree, helped them perform at their very best. We have also hosted numerous other district events for surrounding districts. All of these events have required many, many hours of preparation and organization. Mr. Perone puts in a ton of work organizing these events, which help shine bright and positive light on our communities, our facilities, our staff, and our students. Ms. Pestel has also been instrumental in assisting with the organization and execution of past district wrestling and track meets as well as assisting with the upcoming meet on Thursday. A sincere thank you to Mr. Perone and Ms. Pestel for all that they do for Boone Central.

Recognition of years of service for the following: Dorothy Grosch (5), Mellissa Kettelson (5), Nolan Vandenburg (5), Karen Anderson (10), Stacy Gragert (10), Rachelle Spence (10), Erin Eickhoff (15), Susie Gragert (16), Jenny Schmitz (16), Trina Hellbusch (17), Lynne Webster (17), Angie Zoucha (17), Michelle Merten (18), Dawna Nelson (20), Arlene Zoucha (21), Kathy Beckman (22), Bonnie Molt (22), Diane Dozler (23), Theresa Knust (23), Sherry Haber (24), Angie Flinn (25), Dan Zoucha (26),

Jeanette Zwiener (26), Barb Foland (27), Licia Kunzman (27), Kay Flanagan (29), Chris Grundmayer (29), Jeff Hayes (31), and Kris Pestel (31)

Mrs. Thome, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Paulson for putting on some very incredible performances in the past few weeks. A lot of talent was showcased and performances were very engaging for parents and students.

Mr. Thome/MS Track Coaches - Recognition for the dedication and organization put into our middle school track program.

Facilities Committee and Mrs. Hardwick - Recognition for the time and dedication put into planning the new middle school. The layout is very thoughtful and will be a great addition to the Albion campus.

Middle School Staff - Recognition for their continued dedication to the academic achievement of our students.

6.3. Board Committees

The Transportation Committee met a second time to discuss and review purchase of replacement bus cameras. The committee recommended that the board consider replacing 3 bus cameras and purchasing 4 additional. In addition, the committee recommends that the bus pick-up location currently offered at the middle school location in Petersburg continue to be utilized next year. A second pick-up location will be discussed at the June meeting. Drop-off and pick-up details will be communicated to parents this summer.

6.4. Superintendent

Superintendent Hardwick provided an update to the board on the ESSER II grant fund, REAP grant funding, and technology purchases for the 2021-22 school year.

6.5. Principals and Activities Director

6. Reports

6.1. Boone Central Recognitions

Boone Central Office Staff - with the upcoming Administrative Professionals Day on April 21st, our office staff, Lauren, Sherry, Theresa, Dawn, Ashley, Angie and Janelle Erickson, were recognized for their patience, work ethic, attention to detail, and overall dedication to the district. The work these ladies do go far beyond the actual job description and we are extremely thankful and lucky to have them as part of team!

CKC Director Emily Schick was recognized for her efforts in taking over the Cardinal Kids Club before and after-school program. Emily came in during a tough time last summer, but has managed the transition with ease. The CKC currently has 46 students enrolled in the program. Emily has also worked hard to continue to seek grant funding to support the program and the students involved.

Musical Production Team - Michelle Wright, Doug Wright, Whitney Paulson, Jacque Dickey, all of the other adults that assisted with the Musical production, and all of the students that participated in the Musical were recognized for the many, many hours of hard work they put in to make the production a success. It was a lot of fun to watch, it was great for our school and our communities, and it was obvious that the kids had a ton of fun participating. There were many moving parts, and all involved pulled it off with great success. Also, two peripheral shout outs; First, to the staff and coaches at Boone Central for working with the kids during the preparation for the Musical. Spring is a busy time with many different activities and balancing schedules is a challenge. Second, a thank you to the Albion Area Education Foundation, the Performing Arts Council, and all community members that donated money to the Performing Arts Renovation during the Big Give by supporting our school and students with the equipment purchased in the past and the acoustical upgrades to the performing arts gym. It was great to watch the Musical in a much-improved setting. Thanks again to everyone involved, either directly or indirectly, with the Newsies Musical. It was great.

Theresa Wilke was recognized for her caring and kindness. Theresa does a great job getting kids excited about school. The dedication to our preschool students and the preschool program is essential to the growth and develop of our students.

Freshman Orientation - A huge shout-out to Lynne Webster and Jon Perone for coordinating the well-organized presentation for the upcoming freshman class. The discussions held during orientation were extremely helpful!

Track and Field - this recognition goes out to all the participants as well as all the coaches. The sports complex is a busy place at 3:30 each day with over 60 students on the high school track team and over 70 students on the middle school track team.

The Middle School Staff were recognized for being very caring and upbeat. They do a great job with our middle school students.

Teammates - The Teammates program was recognized for their continuous support to our student through their mentoring program. The work of our current 55 Teammates Mentors is creating a ripple effect that will continue through generations. A special shout-out to the current Boone Central staff who currently serve as a Teammate Mentor!

December Teacher of the Month Mrs. Jenni Grape - Jenni was recognized for her dedication to all students. She works tirelessly and celebrates success regularly! Jenni serves on high school MTSS team, leads the Boone Central Pathways program, and sponsors Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD) group that currently has 123 students participating!

6.2. Continuous School Improvement Teams

Presentations from Teammates Mentoring Program and Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD).

6.3. Board Committees

Committee Reports were given from Transportation regarding the bus camera system, the Perceptual Response Team regarding work on perceptual survey questionnaires, and the facility committee regarding the playground proposals included on the action agenda.

6.4. Superintendent

Superintendent Hardwick updated the board on the current open teaching positions and progress on the middle school addition.

6.5. Principals and Activities Director

Mr. Theis provided an overview of the summer school plan for elementary students.

Board & Administrator

FOR SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS

May 2021 Vol. 35, No. 1

Clarify superintendent's benefits to prevent misuse of paid time off

As the highest-level administrator, a superintendent may need to work throughout the school year to ensure the success of the district. However, board members should keep in mind that like other school personnel, the superintendent is likely entitled to paid time off, such as vacation days, sick leave, and personal days.

While superintendents often choose not to take many vacation days or prefer to be "on call" no matter the circumstances, it is important for the school board to properly review and clarify the benefits the superintendent will receive under the terms of her employment contract. Doing this before and during the hiring process will help prevent any potential misuse of paid time off, conflict with board members, and legal liability.

On March 12, 2021, City Schools of Decatur (Ga.) released a statement acknowledging concerns from former employees and the public that Superintendent David Dude may have taken more paid time off than he was entitled to. In the statement, School Board Chair Tasha White emphasized that active personnel inquiries are confidential, but admitted that the district was defending lawsuits related to the matter. She also highlighted that the language in the superintendent's contract may have caused confusion regarding his vacation days and schoolwide holidays.

To ensure your board avoids a similar situation, consider the following tips:

1. Communicate expectations. Does the board expect the superintendent to work during school holidays such as summer break and spring break? How far in advance should the superintendent input her vacation days or personal days? Is the superintendent required to complete certain projects before she takes paid time off? Board members should discuss their expectations ahead of time and communicate them to the superintendent during the hiring or contract negotiation process to avoid misunderstandings later on.

2. Define all paid time off in the contract. As a best practice, the board should review the superintendent's contract with legal counsel to ensure the document clearly defines each type of paid time off the superintendent is entitled to take during her tenure. For example, the contract may define the term "vacation day" as a day the superintendent takes off from work while the district is open for business. Under that definition, the superintendent would probably not need to request a vacation day to rest while the district is observing a federal holiday.

3. Green-light independent inquiry if necessary. If the board receives complaints or finds records indicating that the superintendent may not be correctly reporting vacation or personal days or sick leave, consult legal counsel as soon as possible and determine whether an independent investigation is needed. Such an investigation may be key in avoiding board liability for potential misuse of federal funds, especially if the superintendent is allowed to cash-out unused paid time off in accordance with her contract.

Remember there's a difference between being open and saying too much

It's always important for board members, and especially new board members, to build a rapport with journalists and members of the public, and a common way a new board member can do this is by opening themselves up to questions and presenting themselves as honest and straightforward. And while this is an excellent way to gain the trust of your constituents, it's also important to keep in mind that board members are often privy to information that the public does not know, and there's often a reason for that. Sometimes, board members know information about a program or activity that isn't ready to be fully announced yet. Other times, members learn or know about confidential information that the general public shouldn't know.

Because of this, it is all too easy for a new board member to fall into a trap of revealing too much too soon, all in the name of being open with the public. That's why board members should become very comfortable with phrases such as: "you'll be hearing more about that soon," "let's circle back on that topic next week," and "we're not quite ready to discuss that at this time." It's perfectly reasonable for board members to not reveal everything as soon as possible, so long as you keep your word and explain whatever topic you didn't talk about earlier when the time is right. And remember, you can always say more, but you can't take back what you've already said. ■

Present united front

Present a united front in the midst of efforts to force the reopening of schools or to recall school board members for the failure to allow students to return to in-person learning. Some schools have resisted or delayed reopening until teachers are vaccinated or the risk of COVID-19 exposure is lowered. Others have been forced to close for a second time after a resurgence or outbreak. Many are challenging reopening rules in court. All the while, questions about funding swirl.

Consider the following ways to present a united front in the face of challenges:

- Be respectful to other members. Ensure that board members do not speak over one another, encourage each member's input, use decorum, and follow established meeting procedures.

- Document the board discussion, the particulars of board decisions, and address complaints.
- Envision disruptions and challenges and incorporate flexibility depending upon circumstances.
- Be creative and consider new solutions to new challenges.
- Discuss representations to be made during open meetings, press releases, or the preparation of statements for disclosure to the public.
- Encourage board members agree to air grievances in private meetings to ensure the board presents a united front and is confident about the future of in-person learning. ■
