Review Raymond Central Public School's Feasibility Study

Matt Fisher and Carl Dietz from First National Capital Markets presented results from their feasibility study for Raymond Central Public Schools. The purpose of the study was to provide a comprehensive source of data to be used in determining the most efficient operational structure for Raymond Central. The feasibility study is designed to provide information to help the Board of Education and the administration make long-term plans regarding the following areas: Census data on District demographics (including housing); Enrollment trends and projections; Staffing information; Current facilities; Financial trends and cost analysis. The Board of Education is in the process of analyzing the results and will be sharing an executive summary with the public in the near future.
